

Labor Unions

- Seamstresses are labored factories, that work 12 or more hours a day and six days a week.
- Under the age of 5 - 15, 20% of boys and 10% of girls also held for full time jobs.
- Labor across a range of any gender, age, race, or even skills are allied together try to improve their lot.
- In 1882, an average of 675 laborers were killed in work related accidents each week.
- Between 1890 and 1910, the labor wages were so low that eventually, women working for wages doubled, from 4 milliion to more than 8 million.