

Anson Feng

Adv. Writing

Ms. Cadoux

The Louisiana Purchase was one of the largest land deals in history. In 1803, the United States paid approximately 15 million dollars for over 800,000 square miles of land. This land deal was arguably the greatest achievement of Thomas Jefferson's presidency but also posed a major philosophical problem for Jefferson. Thomas Jefferson was strongly anti-federalist. While he might have written the Declaration of Independence, he definitely did not author the Constitution. Instead, that document was mainly written by James Madison. Jefferson spoke against a strong federal government and instead advocated states' rights. He feared tyranny of any kind and only recognized the need for a strong, central government in terms of foreign affairs.

Jefferson is a person who is very nice, he always making some joke when they are doing some business that is very serious. One day he is going to do the purchase with the Washington. Washington is the person from Taiwan, he is also the funny guy, always make the joke same with Thomas Jefferson. Washington wants to sell a land that is next to the Taiwan, that is a desert land, no one live in that land. Thomas Jefferson make a joke about that land, he says something like that land so bad, and says something bad to Washington, actually Jefferson just making a joke, he doesn't have any malicious. But that make David very angry, and David irritate back to Thomas, also making some joke about Thomas. Finally, they both very angry, and they just packing their things and leave.

After a few days, Thomas think about it, and he thinks he should not just leave because his purpose from last time is to buy the land next to Taiwan. So he call Washington, and he asks Washington if they can meet again. Washington just uses the bad tone of comments to answer him, but he still agree to meet him again. The place they are going to meet each other is in a farm. Jefferson was very angry when he arrive at the farm because Washington was one hour late. When Washington arrive, both of them were very awkward. Suddenly, Washington said sorry to Jefferson because of last time's event. After they talk, both of them reconcile. Washington proposed that they can go to ride horse in this farm. Time pass soon, it is dinner time. Both of them have to go back spend time with kids and have dinner with their family. They will meet at white house after few weeks.

After few weeks, Thomas Jefferson rode his horse to the White House to visit Washington. When he was riding the horse, he is watching the sky and the trees around him; he thinks it is so beautiful around the White house. Those trees are very tall, and the weather was not hot, it is kind of warm. And the air in America was much cleaner than France. Jefferson leaves in France for two years before and the environment was very crowded and dirty. Jefferson rode into the "White House." Before, it was a meeting house, so there were many meeting rooms and other equipments. Both of them arrived at the same time. They chose a medium size meeting room. The reason why they meet is because Jefferson wants to buy the land near Taiwan. He has many idea of how to use this land and how can this land become popular. Washington think Jefferson's idea is impossible so he wants Jefferson go home think more about how to use the land. They have a fight again but this time is a serious fight. Jefferson think Washington doesn't trust him at all. Both of them leave the house and don't want meet each other anymore.

When they both back to their own place, both of them are still very angry, but they both also fill unfortunately, because at first, they both very kind, and the business is almost done, but just because of they have the different idea for using this land. Actually in this few months, Jefferson and Washington have a lot of time were going to call each other, but they can't, they both feel so awkward. Jefferson spend a lot of time to plan how to use this land, but one day, Jefferson nerve to call Washington. When Washington pick up the phone, they both don't know what they can say, Jefferson tell Washington he has the new plan for using that land, and he describe all of his plan to Washington. After Jefferson finish,

"Actually it is doesn't matter anymore" Washington say.

"What? but you ask me to think some new idea for use this land!" Jefferson say.

"Yes, but I think about that, if I sell the land to you, I shouldn't judge your plan" Washington say.

In this moment, Jefferson has the new idea,

"How about this, you sell the land to me, but we can operate this land together" Jefferson say.

"Oh yeah! That will be a good idea" Washington answer.

So they find the time to meet each other again, they meet in the white house again, after they meet each other, they discuss about what are they going to do in the future first. They both have the good idea, and they both agree with each other ideas, so they just sign up, and finish this purchase.

"Hope we can have the good cooperation in the future" Jefferson say.

"Yes, how about this, you were lived in the France before right?" Washington ask.

"Yes, that will be correct." Jefferson answer.

"We can mix the France and America type, that will be the most popular land in the world" Washington say.

"Ok, let's try it" Jefferson say.

After all, they both get the result they want.